Ku

deep space at the end of my sentence a blue dot.

hunger deals
a lizard tastes its tail

an irregular mole the size of an eraser i belong to the world of these words skyscraper the moment the others vanish burial a breeze from my life cycle

weighing dad sparrow-light the needle flies west sun at high G

tuning up my face

no word for paradise the language of Kalashnikovs dementiautumnight cosmos as cranium as cavern as temple as map as board game bullet ridden drone ridden rain fall opens

touch-move rule gently
a little death

before christ a bookmark unknown soldier - sn w fill ng the bl nks when I call out your name you cut the call at the end of the day nobody remains real f e // i n g

new year
rain

black-light in Cyrillic letters the word blonde spring blued sky about to crack my window a part across from a godwit's carbon footprint fossil fuels a dream beyond the hood of a day moon day moon we share glances and whispered idioglossia spinning spider

as my eyes go round and round

in the darkplay
of wingspan
a hollowed vowel

between borders the hunger of stitched mouths

61 cygni i try to find you without google w a i t i n g

the milky way forms a skin memernerenew

as green as Oz and given the powerfull
hill

- *and upon the flesh
of animals*
goes out of focus

o house emit star patterns triumph now crooked forest sun breadcrumbs lead in two directions pi moon...

the six nouns of white
on a canvas

a grain of sand in my umbilicus
the theory of everything

returning wolves
seeds crack open to birdsong

we dream
the word
awake

tower day
the galactic roads
we expect

 In memory of Douglas Adams*

glass skyscrapers liquid blue all afternoon nebula^e the spiral arms of his trenchcoat beheading over the edge of space bathing in moonlight Galileo's eye be that as it may an insurrection of dolphins hits the pavement headful of nettles a dish of moons

the potato eaters pick it bare hands

news the war to end all wars rolling vasectomEEnymEEnymInymOe jukebox lights that rainbow ain't mine bluer my childhood eyes wider my godless red red red red red red red red deer blood mouth spit hand earth deer

Santa Ana winds tromboning my peripheral vision half-written rain drips from this

finger mountain

winter
eyes

floating down the river of hands a fleet of baby coffins still life

she cuts the sleeping pill in half

bringing the glare inside keening the ears colored leaves in fog autumn's language in the cerebral cortex he borrowed scent of sleep once wild open mouths in the infrastructure bone bomb an owl egg hatches behind Christ's body

Where the tree once been a red dot above.

Silence of Stars

seashell the illuminated song murdered rogered more times over the radio birds tweeting dreaming away from the border night bats red October the foxtrot of a passing wind ascending slowly the wet mist & whose hand grieving mosquito dead too, dead too spring awakening the rumours of red horizon invading the privacy of the night silence of stars

“culture”

the homunculus springs up with seven words a motorcycle as it starts to consider a question the unlucky youths who built the space elevator which body part is the moon tonight

Taking Out the Trash

painkillers working the night breeze outside my door

wind chimes/crickets trash in hand I wonder which cliché to choose

no story . . .
just the night breeze
on my bare arms

now a failed haiku because my pain wants a mention with moondark and crickets wind chimes

slowly

pain in my knees
cricket song
carries me

before moonrise
heat lightning
in the east

barely galactic

milky way your granny was born on earth where no goober has gone before they send us behind the ion thruster an admiral snickers pregnant butterfingers wait to see Bones
